Miss Helen Scott Tried to Drown Out Loud Speaker at Local Union Session

Miss Helen Scott, of 114 Clinton avenue, employed as a machine operator at the Kingston Knitting Mill Co., was arrested for unnecessary blowing of an automobile horn while an Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union rally was in progress about noon today in front of the mill on Cornell street.

Miss Scott was arrested by Officer James Cullum on a complaint filed by Amalgamated Clothing Workers officials who charged that Miss Scott was blowing her horn in an effort to drown out the public rally of garment workers sponsored by the A. C. W. U. She furnished cash bail and will have a hearing in city court tomorrow morning.

Arrest Is Climax

Miss Scott's arrest climaxed a turbulent day in local labor history as the first jurisdictional dispute between rival garment workers unions in Kingston flared into the open, when the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union and the International Ladies Garment Workers Union both claimed bargaining rights for employees of the Byrne-Ross Knitting Mills and Barclay Knitwear.

The incident leading to Miss Scott's arrest occurred when an A.C.W.U. spokesman attempted to address the large gathering of workers. Union officials said they had a signed permit from Mayor William F. Edelmuth to conduct the meeting at that place.

General Says Reds Provoked Attack by Germany in '41

Nuernberg, Germany, June 5 (AP)—Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl told the War Crimes Court today that Russia provoked the German attack in 1941 by massing 150 divisions on the border after the two countries had partitioned Poland.

Jodl was German Army Chief of Staff and now is one of 22 ranking Germans on trial before judges of the United States, Britain, Russia and France.

He testified that Hitler heard of the concentration and was informed that the Russians intended to seize the Romanian oil fields at the first opportunity.

This knowledge, coupled with the growing deployment of the Red Army, brought about the decision to attack Russia, Jodl testified.

He said the German command had concluded by that time that Russia intended to forsake her neutrality and time a blow at Germany coinciding with an Allied invasion of the west. Jodl said that would have been fatal to Germany.

The general said that at the time Russia had 150 divisions on

Attorney Declares Woman Is Ready For O. P. A. Trial

Client Does Not Appear Before Price Panel; Cites 'Rumors' and 'Non-Cooperation'

The failure of the principal witness in the Kingston Price Control Panel's investigation of the alleged black market nylon ring to appear before the board yesterday turned the highly publicized meeting into an anti-climactic routine, weekly session.

Charles Gaffney, who appeared as attorney for the female defendant in the Panel's inquiry, told members that his client was willing to stand trial before the prosecution section of the O.P.A. regional headquarters in Albany.

Mr. Gaffney said his client declined to appear before the Price Control Panel as requested two weeks ago because of rumors concerning her and because of "non-cooperation." He did not elaborate on the "non-cooperation" charge.

"We are gathering all the evidence we can for transmission to the Albany office," a Panel spokesman said. "We are confident that the evidence against the woman is strong enough to convict her of black market operations."

Officials of the Panel pointed out that when the woman charged with selling black market nylons over the ceiling price appeared before the Panel two weeks ago she freely admitted selling them to local "friends" for "personal use."

At the time the woman could not recall where she had purchased the hosiery, what price she had paid for them, how many she had sold and for what prices. She was given two weeks in which to refresh her memory and she promised Panel officials that she would have facts and figures ready for yesterday's meeting.

Panel Cites 'Clue'

The only "clue" of the source of the nylons, a Panel official said, was a statement by the woman that she had purchased them in Reading, Pa. Preserved for specific addresses, she recalled that they were chiefly "little holes in the wall" but could not remember the addresses or the names of the persons from whom she purchased the hosiery. She has been a resident of Kingston for nearly two years, having come here from Pennsylvania.

Panel officials said they were not surprised by the woman's action but will move for vigorous and speedy prosecution.

They have, they said, the woman's own testimony that she sold the hosiery and the testimony of several witnesses who testified that they purchased hosiery in amounts ranging from eight to 30 pairs. A few of the witnesses said they had not known the woman prior to the hosiery sales, thus refuting her alibi that she sold only to "friends."

According to witnesses, the woman sold nylons for prices ranging from $1.75 to $2.50. The buyers were mainly individuals, although it was revealed that a Kingston beauty parlor and woman's hat shop purchased some for the convenience of their customers.

Weary Negotiators Convene to Argue Whether 56-Hour Work Week Can Be Reduced for Men at Sea; Labor Bureau Refuses to Tell Stand

Washington, June 5 (AP)—The Coast Guard as well as the Navy counted its manpower today as the big question—"will there be a maritime strike June 15?"—loomed over Washington.

The Coast Guard suspended all discharges. The Navy considered similar action. Naval stations were reporting to headquarters on the number of men on hand with cargo-vessel experience.

There was no secret among officials that if the joint strike of C.I.O. seamen and dock workers takes place, the government will have a problem finding qualified men to operate the merchant fleet—as President Truman has promised to do.

With the strike date only ten days off, weary union men and ship operators gathered again at the Labor Department for more argument on whether the 56-hour week can be reduced for men at sea.

The seamen's work-week has become the nub of the whole dispute—virtually swallowing up the question of basic wage increases. These have been demanded but discussed very little to date.

Labor Department officials said the CIO National Maritime Union was no longer insisting on overtime pay above 40 hours. They refused to describe the new union position. Neither side would discuss it because Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach has demanded of them a pledge not to talk about the bargaining sessions.

At least the idea and tone of collective bargaining was still functioning, and progress had been made. But as the day began there was nothing to indicate that any great concessions had been made by either side, or that there was any real prospect of an early settlement.

The operators still were unwilling to reduce the sea-going work-week.

Seitz Purchases Canfield Building On Ferry Street

Venetian Blind Company Acquires 10,000 Square Feet of Space in New Site

A. J. P. Seitz, president and owner of the Kingston Venetian Blind Co. at 111 Broadway, today announced that he had purchased the four-story brick building on Ferry street of the Canfield Supply Co. The price paid was not revealed. Possession will be taken August 1.

The sale was closed yesterday through the office of Joseph Sacco, attorney at law in this city.

The Ferry street building now houses the electrical supplies department of the Canfield Co. and the Kingston Venetian Blind Co. plans to use the entire four floors of the building for its expanding business.

The building contains 10,000 square feet.

Mr. Seitz during World War 2 served as director of public relations for the Hercules Powder Co. Last November he purchased the interests of the late Leo P. Fenelly in the blind company, and has continued to operate it.

During the brief period that Mr. Seitz has owned the business it has increased production five times what it was when he took over. He said today that when possession is taken of the Ferry street building production will be doubled, provided he can obtain the necessary materials used in the manufacture of blinds.

Mr. Seitz also plans to manufacture additional products in the Ferry street building, provided he can obtain the necessary material.

The Kingston Venetian Blind Co. was established 10 years ago on Thomas street, and for the past two years has been located on lower Broadway.

Four Arrests Made On License Charges

Chauffeurs' licenses expired on May 31, and the Kingston Police Department is making a check of drivers' licenses in the city. One case was adjourned to June 12; one driver was discharged, and the two others forfeited $5 bail each by failing to appear in court.

William Verhagen of Carlisle and William Matthews of Ilion were the two drivers who forfeited bail. Claude Barringer of Ulster Park was discharged, and John Shrock of Andover street had his hearing adjourned.

Fred Johnson of West Shokan charged with public intoxication on Crown street received a suspended sentence.

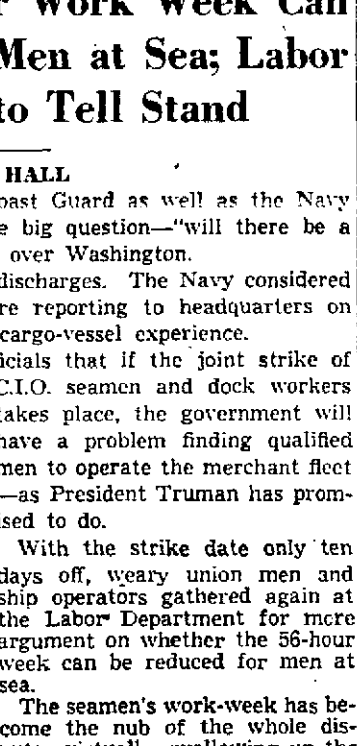

Cashing In 'E' Bonds

Treasury figures disclosed today on the eve of a campaign to promote greater buying of E Bond redemptions from the beginning of the year to June 1 totaled $2,398,655,000, as against $2,111,725,000 in new purchases. The nationwide bond-selling campaign which opens tomorrow—second anniversary of D-Day in Normandy—and runs through July 4 was described officially as a step to combat inflation.

Repeal of Clause Curbing Candidacy Asked by Council

Claim It Keeps Many Worthy Citizens From Serving Public in Office

A provision in the city charter which requires candidates for public office to be property owners was termed "an anachronism, and hinders many worthy citizens in serving in public office," in a resolution adopted by the Common Council which asked that the provision be stricken from the charter.

The resolution, which was adopted without comment, set forth that section 19 of the city charter as amended provides in part that:

"The mayor, alderman-at-large, supervisors, assessors, police, fire and water commissioners of charities and commissioners of public works shall be owners of property assessed on the last preceding assessment roll compiled in the month of August last preceding their several elections or appointments, and the appointment or election of a person to any such offices whose name shall not appear upon such tax roll shall be null and void."

The resolution set forth: "That each year candidates of both the major political parties in many instances must find properties to qualify for office."

"That the corporation counsel is hereby requested to render an opinion as to whether or not the Common Council can repeal this provision of the charter by local law, and if his answer be in the affirmative, he is further requested to draft a local law repealing said provision."

City Employees Ask Council To Grant Equal Pay Boosts

The Kingston City Employees, Local 316, in a communication read at the meeting of the Common Council Tuesday evening petitioned the aldermen to extend to the 15 employees under the council's jurisdiction the same pay increases granted by other city boards to their employees, to meet higher living costs.

The communication, signed by C. LeRoy Brower, president of Local 316, requested that the current salary of each employee be increased by the amount of one regular annual increment plus 10 per cent of the maximum salary for each employee position; that the present maximum salary for each employee be increased by 10 per cent.

The communication, which was referred to the finance, ways and means committee, read as follows:

"Your attention is respectfully called to the rapid rise in the cost of living since the first of this year which rise is impossible for city employees to meet without a proportionate raise in their current salaries."

As you know, employees of this city received only two C.O.L.

Blaze Roars Mainly on Four Floors

Many of Dead Are Suffocated in Beds in La Salle Hotel, Heart of Loop

Spread Was Rapid Speed of Blaze Called Appalling, Hotel Detective Says

Chicago, June 5 (AP)—At least 57 persons were killed—many suffocated in their beds without being awakened—today in an early morning fire that swept through the 22-story LaSalle Hotel in the heart of Chicago's Loop District.

Fire department sources estimated about 200 persons were injured.

The first alarm was turned in at 12:35 a. m., when most of the 1,100 guests had retired for the night. Within 10 minutes the first three floors were engulfed in flames and both of the main street exits from the 37-year-old hostelry were impassable.

Five extra alarms were sounded and more than 300 firemen battled the blaze bringing it under control about 3:30 a. m.

Most of those who were burned had been housed on the third, fourth, fifth and sixth floors. About the sixth floor smoke and flames claimed their victims. At least 10 persons died as they leaped from their rooms and fell to the street or in a courtyard.

Of the 54 bodies which overflowed the county morgue—29 were listed as unidentified. On many of the bodies there were only a few fragments of burned clothing, which crumbled when touched. Most were clad only in negligees or robes.

Calls It 'Worst' Fire

Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan, calling the fire the worst in his 35 years of experience and "one of the hardest to explain," said firemen had heard three explosions, spaced about a minute and a half apart, were heard preceding discovery of the fire.

John Flanagan, chief house detective at the LaSalle, said the fire started in the No. 5 elevator shaft. He quoted Detective Edward McNamara as saying that the operator of the No. 5 elevator rushed into the lobby and said there was fire in his pit.

Several persons with fire extinguishers went to the reported location of the fire, and the fire department was summoned, arriving in five or six minutes.

Spread Is Appalling

"But it was simply appalling the way the fire spread," McNamara said. "In a twinkling the whole lobby was a mass of flames. From then on, everything was chaos."

Coroner A. L. Erodie called an inquest this morning, and said he would use prominent hotel managers and engineers for members of the jury.

Firemen and volunteers rushed into the hotel to control the blaze, and assist the guests from the building. Smoke and heat rushed to the upper floors through the elevator shafts, permeating all the halls and filling the rooms. On the fourth floor, seven bodies were found in a crawling position. The victims had been headed toward a fire escape, and had been overcome on the way.

On a glass canopy were found the bodies of a mother and her child, arms banding one another. Both were burned beyond recognition.

The figures of many persons appeared in windows, as if they were planning to leap. Even as flame and smoke menaced those in the windows, firemen cautioned:

"Sit tight—we'll get you out."

Rescue workers were quickly raised and more than 50 persons were rescued. Military police and shore patrol members banded together with police, firemen and other volunteers to stretch nets in the streets to catch those who chose to leap. One woman was carried down a fire escape by a fireman and rushed to Passavant Hospital. Almost on arrival, she gave birth to a baby.

"If only some of them had not been panicked, they might have been saved," said Fire Marshal Corrigan.

A temporary morgue was hastily set up in the city hall, only a block from the hotel. More than

Sabath Suggests Veto

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.) of the House Rules Committee counseled President Truman today to veto the Case Labor Disputes Bill. Sabath told White House reporters that he had urged the President to let a Senate-House committee study the whole question of labor legislation for a few months and "agree on a sane bill for peace and harmony between labor and management." He said he told Mr. Truman: "The Case bill is a bill that will not eliminate strikes, will not help industry and may create more trouble than anything else." As for the President's reaction, the congressman said merely that "he was very glad to see me."

May Reject Proposal

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Senators weary by hours of wrangling appeared today to reject a proposal for a "draftless draft"—a maneuver designed to block induction of teen-agers. The Senate yesterday voted to resume the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds and senators who want to keep the Selective Service Law intact were confident of defeating any draft "holiday." The teen age draft cleared the chamber by a vote of 53 to 20.

Other Developments
Meantime there were other developments:

Government officials said a complete maritime strike would cause a sugar pinch "in a matter of days" and a slowdown of industry within two months.

Louis Saillant, secretary-general of the World Federation of Trade Unions, predicted in Paris that French dock workers will support the CIO strike by refusing to load strike-breaking ships.

In Washington, the Committee for Maritime Unity (CMU), which has planned the June 15 strike, made this comment on Saillant's prediction: "Vive La France!"

Congress and Mr. Truman pondered decisions that might have a bearing on the President's authority to deal with a maritime strike. The Committee for Maritime Unity is headed by Harry Bridges and Joe Curran, co-chairman.

The CMU is composed of seven unions—six CIO and one independent. The AFL Maritime Union has nothing to do with the CMU.

The CMU is directing the labor side of the negotiations, with most of the discussions so far involving Curran's National Maritime Union and 39 Atlantic and Gulf shipping companies which act as agents for the War Shipping Administration. The WSA owns about 80 per cent of America's cargo vessels.

day claimed the entire personnel of Byrne-Ross under the Amalgamated banner and said that negotiations for a new contract would start on Monday with Bernie Pauker, Jr.

Meanwhile Mr. Pauker through the firm's attorney, Arthur Ewig, had notified Mrs. Fisher that the I.L.G.W.U. would be the official bargaining agent.

Mrs. Fisher expressed the belief her organization had more members of the Barclay Knitwear Co. signed than the I.L.G.W.U., but declined to say if Amalgamated claimed a majority.

"As regards the Byrne-Ross plant, I can say without fear of contradiction that we have the entire membership of that organization," Mrs. Fisher said.

"These workers," Mrs. Fisher went on, "were organized by a committee working inside the plant, and the final meeting was held on Monday."

Mrs. Fisher further pointed out that the Byrne-Ross workers came out in a body at noon today to demonstrate their allegiance to the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

In the event of a stalemate in bargaining rights an election will be held among the employees to determine what union these prefer to join.

Telegraph Rates to Gain

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Telegraph rates are going up 10 per cent in about 30 days to meet what the Federal Communications Commission calls Western Union's "dire need for additional revenue." The commission limited the rate increases to a one year period and also permitted Western Union to revise certain classes of service. After filing revised rate schedules with the commission, the company can put the new rates into effect on 30 days' notice. They apply to full rate, day letter, night letter, serial and press messages.

Milk Production Lower

Ithaca, N. Y., June 5 (AP)—Milk production in New York state for the first four months of the year was seven per cent below that for the same period in 1945, a Cornell University agricultural economist reported today. Dr. C. Cunningham said the drop in production was brought about by a decrease in the number of cows being milked, and poor quality feed. "The biggest factor in obtaining needed high production during the next few months will be the coming pasture season," he said, "and it is unlikely that it can equal the unusually favorable one of 1945."

Jones Opposes Loan

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Jesse Jones put his weight behind House opposition to the $3,750,000,000 British loan today, blasting the credit as an "irreparable mistake" and a step toward financial ruin for the United States. Primed for a "sizzling battle" when the measure reaches the floor, his foes had their determination boosted by the way the former secretary of commerce sailed into the proposed legislation.

Repeaters' Beaten Most Severely

Instructions Were Beat Men to the Floor

Nauheim, Germany, June 5 (AP)—Sgt. James M. Jones of the 1st Army, informed an army court martial yesterday that he understood it was the duty to beat prisoners in the stockade at Lichfield, in order "to get the men out of the guardhouse and back into the front line."

Jones, now serving a six months sentence for his part in the Lichfield beatings, testified in the trial of P.F.C. William B. Norris of Mulga, Ala., also accused of beating prisoners.

Both Jones and another former guard at Lichfield testified that they received instructions from Lt. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City and Lt. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., to "beat men to the floor and work the repeaters over."

Both Cubage and Ennis also are on trial in adjoining courtrooms on charges of mistreating prisoners at Lichfield.

Jones said the beatings were most severe for "repeaters," men returning to Lichfield on second offenses. He quoted Cubage as saying: "I guess the only way to break them from coming back is to beat them to the floor."

Norris' defense counsel, Capt. John Barr of Urbana, Ill., maintained that Norris was only obeying orders in administering beatings to prisoners, but the prosecution declared: "There is no justification for beating prisoners, even on direct orders."

T/S Adcock of Hot Springs, Ark., also awaiting trial on charges, testified at Cubage's trial that the lieutenant had assured guards of official support in beating prisoners.

"Don't worry about the consequences," Adcock said Cubage told the guards. "For the post is behind you 100 per cent."

Col. James A. Killian of Highland Park, Ill., Lichfield's commander, was upheld by the court trying Norris yesterday when he refused to testify on the ground that his testimony might "embarrass" his defense when he comes to trial on similar charges later.

Clarity Is Asked Regarding Clause In Zoning Statute

Communication Requests Phrase Ruling Against Change of Use by Vacancy

A request that the Common Council clarify the present city zoning ordinance by including a clause to the effect that the vacating of a non-conforming building is not to be construed as a change of use, was submitted to the Common Council Tuesday evening by Harry Gold, a member of the zoning board.

The communication was referred to the laws and rules committee. Mr. Gold in his letter to the council wrote:

As a member of the Zoning Board of the City of Kingston, I have received numerous inquiries within the past several months concerning the status of the non-conforming buildings in the various residential zones which have been vacated subsequently to the adoption of the zoning ordinance.

As you are well aware, when the City of Kingston was divided into residential, business and industrial districts pursuant to said zoning ordinance, provision was made in Section Three thereof for the continuance of any non-conforming use existing at the time of the passage of said law. Said section further provides, however, that "no non-conforming use, if once changed to a use permitted in the district in which it is located, shall ever be changed back to a non-conforming use."

This clause makes it problematical whether or not a building whose use had always been non-conforming, on becoming vacant can ever return to its non-conforming use. By thus becoming vacant it can be argued that the use has changed to a conforming one.

It is my personal opinion that it was not the intention of the Common Council which adopted the zoning ordinance that the mere vacating of premises was to be considered a change of use in the sense referred to above. If such were the case, a building becoming vacant and not being able to return to its non-conforming use would have to be demolished or altered at great expense so that same could be used in compliance with the zoning law. The only alternative would be for the property to remain vacant, thus becoming a burden to the property owner who would invariably neglect the building to such an extent that same would become an eyesore and more offensive than a non-conforming use in good condition.

I respectfully suggest to your honorable body, therefore, that the zoning law be amended so that the ambiguity thereof might be remedied by including therein a clause to the effect that the vacating of a non-conforming building is not to be construed as a change of use.

The Wynecoops had a flat tire on the highway, and no spare. Shortly after, the Stricklers' car slowed to a stop behind them—out of gas.

It was simple: The Stricklers loaned the Wynecoops a tire and the Wynecoops towed the Stricklers to town. The Wynecoops bought a tube and the Stricklers bought gas.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's two-fisted foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, stated the case of western democracy versus totalitarian Communism with succinct bluntness in his speech on foreign policy in the House of Commons yesterday, and the meat of it was a point which many statesmen have been hesitating to make publicly for fear of giving offense to Moscow.

Bevin declared that permanent peace in Europe could be guaranteed "only if Russia enters freely into the European settlement."

But, he added, there runs all through Russian speeches and writings the "idea that the Russian methods alone represent democracy and that certain other systems are either fascist or crypto-fascist."

Then a bit later he nailed it down like this: "Russian diplomats, he said, appeared to believe that 'the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world adopts the Soviet system. This is one of their greatest handicaps and a great obstacle to peace.'"

Well, now, not only do Soviet diplomats appear to hold this belief, but foreign observers long have recognized that all signs indicate Moscow fully intends to encircle the globe with Communism. The intensive campaign for Communization of the world, which Marshal Stalin shelved temporarily when he came to power in 1924, is again in full swing.

However, this doesn't mean that there isn't room enough on our big globe for both these philosophies of life. Nations can agree to disagree politically and still maintain friendly and profitable relations.

By the way, Mr. Bevin's reference to the term "fascist" is a reminder that a lot of folk don't employ it correctly, as he has done. Through constant use by Moscow, "fascist" has become a generic term for those who oppose Communism, and it can be used properly only in that sense. A person who is against western democracy, for example, isn't necessarily a fascist. A distinguished Russian the other day gave a very exact definition thus: "Fascists are people who with special bitterness hate the Soviet Union."

Point of Clash

This world Communization is said to have been one of the points on which Stalin and the late Leon Trotsky clashed politically at the time of Lenin's death. Trotsky was for spreading Communism by all means, while Stalin sagely decided that Russia's first need was development of her industries and the creation of a powerful army. After that could come intensification of the crude for global Communization.

Even before the late war, many European observers who had been watching the situation closely felt perfectly certain that Moscow would resume the world drive when the right moment arrived. Obviously the right moment came when Russia was mighty in victory.

This doesn't mean, of course, that the spread of Communism was wholly laid aside in 1924. On the contrary there was persistent and systematic effort throughout the world to establish Communist cells. We are seeing some of the fruit of these efforts now—and we shall see more.

It is in this that Bevin sees a danger to world peace. The "idea that the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world adopts the Soviet system" is based on the fact that Communism and western democracy are diametrically opposed in their political views. The two things just don't mix. No country would long exist as half western democracy and half Communism.

However, this doesn't mean that there isn't room enough on our big globe for both these philosophies of life. Nations can agree to disagree politically and still maintain friendly and profitable relations.

Through constant use by Moscow, "fascist" has become a generic term for those who oppose Communism, and it can be used properly only in that sense. A person who is against western democracy, for example, isn't necessarily a fascist. A distinguished Russian the other day gave a very exact definition thus: "Fascists are people who with special bitterness hate the Soviet Union."

Even before the late war, many European observers who had been watching the situation closely felt perfectly certain that Moscow would resume the world drive when the right moment arrived. Obviously the right moment came when Russia was mighty in victory.

This doesn't mean, of course, that the spread of Communism was wholly laid aside in 1924. On the contrary there was persistent and systematic effort throughout the world to establish Communist cells. We are seeing some of the fruit of these efforts now—and we shall see more.

It is in this that Bevin sees a danger to world peace. The "idea that the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world adopts the Soviet system" is based on the fact that Communism and western democracy are diametrically opposed in their political views. The two things just don't mix. No country would long exist as half western democracy and half Communism.

However, this doesn't mean that there isn't room enough on our big globe for both these philosophies of life. Nations can agree to disagree politically and still maintain friendly and profitable relations.

By the way, Mr. Bevin's reference to the term "fascist" is a reminder that a lot of folk don't employ it correctly, as he has done. Through constant use by Moscow, "fascist" has become a generic term for those who oppose Communism, and it can be used properly only in that sense. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 6, 1946

BACK YOUR FUTURE

During the war Americans became dramatically familiar with the bond drives. This month the Treasury Department is undertaking a new kind of bond sales campaign in which you must act as your own salesman. No one will knock at your door to remind you of your obligation to your fighting son or friend. The fighting power of the war bonds you bought went off to war but the dollars represented in each of the bonds you accumulated stayed with you and earned interest.

United States Savings Bonds are still available. Each bond will back your future. To be sure, this is no flag-waving appeal of the character to which you responded so remarkably in the war years. Nevertheless this appeal serves the country as well as you. We are still in the throes of the battle against inflation. Billions of dollars above the value of available consumers' goods are in the hands of Americans. There is no longer compulsory rationing. Self-discipline in the matter of handling resources and income is of the utmost importance now. Every dollar you put away in bonds now is a dollar you keep out of competition with your neighbor for scarce goods. Continued investment in savings bonds is your personal guarantee against a shaky national economy—jumpy prices of the things you need to maintain a comfortable standard of living.

The June slogan, "Back Your Future," which the Treasury Department has chosen can be safely interpreted to mean the immediate future as well as the period 10 years hence when every $3 investment in savings bonds returns to you with $1 profit. Tomorrow, the next day and the next week and the next month are your future when you talk about the fight against inflation.

From every standpoint you truly back your future by continuing to buy and hold United States Savings Bonds.

THE INDEPENDENT AGED

This country's forgotten people are the middle-class aged. Men and women of modest means, old but healthy, they disapprove of depending on relatives, if they have them, for their terminal years. The long-lived rich can buy comfort from servants at home, or in expensive hotels like those, for example, for which Philadelphia is famous. For the poor there are public institutions, however bleak. Religious, fraternal and endowed "homes," only a shade above charity, destroy independence by requiring inmates to sign over their small wealth on admission. There are "convalescent" and "nursing homes" for the aged who are chronically ill. These are frequently high-priced or poorly run.

Modern medicine has lengthened the life span. Now it is time society took the next step. There is widespread need for moderate-priced hotel-type residences where old people can pay their way, contribute some cooperative labor and enjoy that most priceless of all human heritages, freedom of person. Provision could be made for little extra services like meals in rooms, and practical nurses for occasional indispositions or serious illnesses. Guests could be accepted with some eye to common background and compatibility.

Here is a field, practically untouched, offering modest profit and endless opportunity for service.

WORLD-WIDE CONFUSION

An index of the fundamental changes now going on in Europe is the statement that following present population shifts, Poland will lack one-third of its pre-war citizenry. The census will show about 24 million Poles instead of the 35 million of pre-war years. Millions of these people are being moved back into the newly defined Polish territory while other millions are being taken out of it to live in surrounding countries.

Such uprooting from homes, or lack of homes, will necessitate indescribable confusions, misery and adjustment. The "peace

NATURALIZATION

A curious word, naturalization. It means that by an oath of allegiance a human being so changes his nature that he ceases to be what he was and becomes something different. He does it deliberately and the assumption is that he is sincere in his desire to make the change. That has often happened in American history, such men as Carl Schurz, Jacob Riis and Joseph Pulitzer being outstanding examples. The oath, however, can only bespeak intent; actual change of emotional attachments depends upon the character of the individual and the reasons guiding him to take the step.

Thus, this country has suffered numerous hyphenates—individuals who, while citizens of the United States, cannot wholly divorce themselves from previous affiliations. The outstanding but not unique example is the German-American, who while a citizen of this country cannot forget that he was once subject to another. And there are, of course, more subtle influences, as, for instance, those Americans who having a remote, let us say, British ancestor feel themselves obliged by what they unsentimentally regard as best of blood, to lean toward Great Britain in all matters, often influencing American policy by this consanguinity.

It is stupid to say that all this is to the bad, for cultural and traditional habits persist for many generations and religious ties bind for centuries. The American Catholic's sentiment for Spain, the American Jew's attachment to Palestine, the American Irishman's unforgetting love for the sod of Erin and for the memory of St. Patrick are of the soul and last eternally and strengthen those who in a community of idealism serve more than bread.

The British do this naturalizing more sensibly than we do and whenever I read the "London Times" I see the "Anglo Columns," which appear on Page One where we put the big news stories. In these columns often appear advertisements of this character:

"NOTICE is hereby given that PAUL DEMEL, of 15 Princess Court, Queensway, W2, is APPLYING to the Home Secretary for NATURALIZATION, and that any person who knows any reason why naturalization should not be granted should send a written and signed statement of the facts to the Under-Secretary of State, Aliens Department, Home Office, London S.W. 1."

That ought to help some. For instance, every time I listen to a speech by Oscar Lange, the Polish ambassador, I see red. This may become a naturalized American. He went through the formalities of naturalization and was admitted to citizenship. No one forced him to do it, but he could not do it with honesty and sincerity and withhold, even in the secrecy of his mind, a single reservation. Naturalization is complete.

When Poland became a puppet of Soviet Russia, this Oscar Lange was offered the job of Polish ambassador to the United States and to the United Nations. He forthwith renounced his American citizenship, as he once before adored Polish citizenship. He was restored to Polish citizenship and got the job. And in the United Nations, he has not only supported the Russian program but has been antagonistic to the policy of the United States.

What can citizenship mean to such a man? Naturalization surely cannot really involve a change in his relationships. He remained a Polish politician while he became an American citizen. He helped to organize and became the leader of a body of Americans of Polish origin who, even when Russia was fighting Poland, were more inclined to Russia than to their native land. What relationship could such a man have to the United States except that he sought and found refuge and a livelihood here when the politics of his own country were unplesant to him. He even became an American politician, joining the P.A.C. But at heart he was never really naturalized.

There are thousands of Oscar Langes in this country—men and women for whom the United States is merely a safe refuge and a protective passport. Naturalization is a practical, not an emotional matter to them. They do not love America but are prepared to take advantage of the opportunities here. Surely, this ought not to be. Surely, a more rigid technique ought to be devised to protect this country from such who having no love of any country can have no love for this.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

At this time when so many men and women in the prime of life are dying of heart disease physicians throughout the world are fighting to prevent that dread disease rheumatic fever, which so damages the heart that it is unable to pump sufficient blood for the needs of the body.

It is known that tonsillitis and septic sore throat are forerunners of rheumatic fever. Thus in the Rhode Island Medical Journal, Dr. John R. Paul, Yale University, states that a good year for streptococcal diseases, such as scarlet fever and tonsillitis is a good year also for rheumatic fever. Rheumatic fever is enormously more common in temperate zones where there are likely to be long periods of inclement weather during which people tend to herd together indoors.

Some idea of the great prevalence of rheumatic fever can be gathered from the statement of Dr. Esley J. Kirk, Omaha, in the Nebraska Medical Journal who says that the number of cases of rheumatic fever easily ranks with that of other important diseases such as tuberculosis, infantile paralysis and diphtheria. If all cases are considered, rheumatic fever ranks third as a chronic infectious disease, exceeded only by tuberculosis and syphilis. However in individuals under 20, rheumatic fever causes more deaths than whooping cough, measles, meningitis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and infantile paralysis combined.

From another source we get further evidence of the high death rate in rheumatic fever. Drs. Donald B. Armstrong and George M. Wheatley (Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.) state that between 5 and 10 years, rheumatic fever is, among diseases, the leading cause of death. It is responsible for a large fraction of deaths from heart disease which interferes with the earning ability of thousands in their prime years.

Fresh air, good food and avoiding crowded places is the advice given to prevent attacks of rheumatic fever. It exposed the use of the sulfa drugs is advisable.

Warren Is Ahead In California Bid Hoffman Is Beaten

Chavez, New Mexico, Has Slight Lead Over Dempsey; Incumbents Seem Winners

(By The Associated Press)

Republican Governor Earl Warren, seeking another term as California's chief executive, was out in front for both the Republican and Democratic nominations on the basis of returns today from Tuesday's primary balloting.

Senator William F. Knowland, another California Republican who hoped to be selected by both political organizations, ran far ahead in his own party's senatorial primary.

Representative Will Rogers, Jr., for the Democratic endorsement. Elsewhere in the five states which held primaries yesterday:

Democratic Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico held a slight lead for renomination over Gov. John J. Dempsey.

A political novice war veteran, Giant James E. Folsom, won the Democratic nomination and hence for practical purposes the election as governor of Alabama.

Former Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey was beaten off in a comeback attempt.

The Republican governor of South Dakota was defeated.

Renomination of incumbent senators and most representatives was indicated in all sections.

California's laws permit candidates to file in both party primaries. Returns from a third of the state's precincts gave Warren a lead in the Republican primary of 149,473 to 153,551 over Democratic Attorney General Robert Kenny.

In the Democratic voting Warren had 119,425 and Kenny 106,921 with more than a fourth of the precincts reported.

The C.I.O.-P.A.C. favored Kenny, the A.F.L. state executive committee Warren.

In the Republican senatorial primary it was Knowland, 83,512, Rogers, 31,918 and Rep. Ellis E. Patterson, 12,944 with more than 25 percent of the district heard from. Rogers was leading in about the same number of precincts on the Democratic side, 88,947 to 53,171 for Knowland and 49,243 for Patterson.

Outcome in Other States

The voting outcome in other states:

New Mexico—Chavez pulled narrowly ahead of Dempsey in returns from about half the state. Thomas J. Mabry, former chief justice of the State Supreme Court, built up a lead over William J. Barker of Santa Fe for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Rep. Antonio M. Fernandez led a field of eight seeking two Democratic nominations for representative. Lt. Gov. J. B. Jones was second and Mrs. George Lusk, state school superintendent, third.

New Jersey—Hoffman's comeback failed as Alfred E. Denico, State Alcoholic Beverage Control commissioner, captured the Republican nomination for governor. The Democratic nominee, unopposed in the primary, is Lewis G. Hansen, former Jersey City judge.

Senator H. Alexander Smith and Mayor George E. Brunner of Camden were unopposed for the Republican and Democratic senatorial nominations.

11 Are Renominated

All of New Jersey's 14 representatives were renominated, including Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., whom the C.I.O.-P.A.C. had marked

Vincent A. Gorman in March, 1929, bought the controlling interest in the Rose & Gorman department store on North Front street, head of Wall street, which now houses the Montgomery Ward store.

The controlling interest had been held by A. E. Rose, the senior member of the firm.

The firm of Rose & Gorman was organized following the partnership of Rose, Gorman & Rose, who in 1912, bought the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Co. The three members of the partnership were A. E. Rose, E. O. Rose, and Mr. Gorman.

The big department store had been erected in 1901 by the late Herbert Carl, and for years was known as the Colossal.

Following the death of Mr. Gorman some years ago the big store closed its doors, and the firm of Rose & Gorman is now a memory.

Endicott-Johnson opened a shoe store at 319 Wall street in the J. J. Newberry store building on March 9, 1929, and remained in that location until recently when the store was removed to North Front street, head of Wall street, where the business is being conducted.

Leaving back the pages of the city's history to March 12, 1909, Michael R. Flick resigned his position with the old Kingston Gas & Electric Co., and embarked on the electrical business for himself.

It is also interesting to recall that the Kingston police department in March, 1909, placed its new patrol wagon in operation. This wagon was horse-drawn and the driver was the late Officer Simon Wood. Later when the department became motorized Officer Wood continued to drive the motorized patrol car, which in those years was used largely to convey prisoners to and from the county jail to the city hall.

Henry L. Wachmeyer died in his home on Hone street on March 19, 1929. For years he was engaged in the furniture business on East Street, carrying on the business established by the late George L. Wachmeyer.

At the death of George L. Wachmeyer the business was carried on by the sons.

The sons retired from business in March, 1919, when the furniture house closed its doors. At the time of the closing the business had been established for 40 years on the Strand.

The three-act comedy "Bashful Mr. Bosh" was presented by the young people of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church on March 22, 1929.

Appointment of Eugene Meyer Is Hailed as Action Deserving Commendation, Since Political Considerations Were Pushed Aside

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 5—President Truman deserves commendation for his willingness to cast aside considerations of politics in nominating for the presidency of the International Bank for Reconstruction and development a Republican and a man well known and experienced in the field of international banking.

Eugene Meyer, whose nomination was immediately approved by all the directors of the institution which has 38 nations as members, is exactly the type of man whose appointment will carry confidence both in governmental and banking circles.

For with $7,500,000,000 of assets to lend and with the United States as the chief contributor of the money, it was important that someone with knowledge of international banking as well as world affairs should be chosen.

Mr. Meyer has been honored before irrespective of party affiliation. Thus the late President Wilson, Democrat, named him to be chairman of the Emergency Finance Corporation which was the counterpart of the R. F. C. in World War I and its aftermath. Later, a Republican president, Herbert Hoover, named Mr. Meyer to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board, a position which he resigned shortly after the late President Roosevelt came into power.

As a private banker of long experience in bank banking and as a man of independent means who can detach himself completely from financial connections and serve the International Bank objectively, Mr. Meyer—who is one of those young 70-year-old executives—has an extraordinary opportunity for public service.

Membership in the International Bank, it will be recalled, was authorized by Congress after a long and bitter fight against the so-called Bretton Woods agreement. There was always the feeling among the banking interests opposed to the bill that the International Bank was a desirable vehicle for handling reconstruction credits but that the so-called international fund was not needed. Much, of course, depends on how the Bretton Woods agreement, now approved by all important nations but not yet participated by Russia, actually functions.

The appointment of Mr. Meyer carries conviction that the American financial stake in the bank will be protected by watchful eyes. The international bank and the international fund are separate institutions but they have a natural relationship. In the latter case a fund is used for stabilization of world currencies and its purpose are therefore monetary rather than in the field of international credit.

As for the International Bank, its scope is best expressed in a brief statement issued by Mr. Meyer when his appointment was announced. He said:

"The world is well aware today of the food famine. At the same time we must become equally aware that the world is starving for the products of industry. The bank was organized to promote reconstruction and development—both these essential activities."

Much of the difficulty in the world today lies in the shortage of food. The whole problem of world agriculture needs attention and it so happens that Mr. Meyer served under President Coolidge as chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board and that he was one of the few men in America who understood the problems of agricultural finance that confronted this country in the 20's.

To persuade a man of Mr. Meyer's attainments to give his full energies to the work of the International Bank is an achievement of which President Truman may be proud, and it may furnish a helpful example to other able men who have lately been hard to attract to the government service as Mr. Truman has had many occasions to know.

Mr. Meyer is editor and publisher of the Washington Post and it is understood he will continue to own the property but will relinquish control of editorial policies. This is comparable to what the late Frank Knox, Republican, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News did when he became secretary of the navy in 1940. It is a step that will spare both Mr. Meyer and his newspaper any embarrassment as the editors remain free to applaud or criticize administration policies. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

Mayors Are Told Cities Should Take 'Vigorous Action'

Rochester, N. Y., June 5 (AP)—

The answer to the housing shortage lies in "vigorous community action," the State Conference of Mayors heard today.

The conference went into closing sessions without hearing representatives of organized labor who had asked an opportunity to discuss a Rochester city labor dispute which resulted in a citywide picketing demonstration last week.

Howard A. Kelly, executive director of the Buffalo Municipal Housing Authority, said, in a prepared speech:

"The actual housing emergency exists in the local communities. Therefore the solution also rests there. Vigorous community action is the answer."

Kelly said the "sole purpose" of federal housing activities was to "harness federal facilities to local community programs."

The A.F.L. Central Trades and Labor Council had sought to appear before the mayors to reply to a speech by City Commerce Commissioner Harold S. W. MacFarlin in which he asserted the city would not recognize any union.

The public works department labor dispute had been reported settled by State Mediator Frederick H. Bullen.

William P. Capes, conference executive secretary, declared the mayors would not take any action or issue any statement in regard to the city labor dispute. He maintained the conference was not responsible for the meeting at which MacFarlin made his statement, he said, the program was arranged by the Federation of Official Planning Boards under whose auspices it was held.

Last night Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, criticized state legislation which boosts municipal expenditures.

But he added, "Just what can be done to avoid the conflict between home rule and the pressure state legislation is one of the things I am not prepared to solve."

Conference officers reelected to office: Mayor Francis J. Blake of Abilene, president; Mayor William Hart Husey of Mt. Vernon, vice president; and Mayor Ernest Corning of Albany, treasurer.

Named to the Municipal Training Bureau Council were Mayors Walker B. Lounsbury, Birmingham; George Hayes, Canandaigua; Arthur Aikenhead, Glen Cove; Ralph E. 'Y' Anniversary Is Observed by Lions

Secretary Tandy and Lou Schaefer Speakers

The Kingston Lions Club observed its weekly luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton yesterday to observance of the 102nd anniversary of the Y.M.C.A.

Bert Tandy, general secretary and Lou Schaefer, athletic director of the local Y.M.C.A., were guest speakers.

Mr. Tandy traced the development of the Y.M.C.A. from its humble beginning in England to its tremendous world-wide ramifications. Mr. Schaefer explained the athletic and physical education facilities at the local "Y," but deplored the fact that not enough business and professional men make a habit of keeping in good physical condition.

Ted Lee, chairman of the Lions committee on Veterans Affairs, was instructed to consult with city officials in the matter of honoring the late Sgt. Robert E. Dietz of Kingston, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

The Lions Club several months ago proposed that the municipal stadium be re-named in the hero's honor, but it is now possible that one of the new schools in the city may bear his name.

Recs Set for Homesteads Tonight; House of David Coming

Great Crowd Is Expected to Jam Stadium for Tilt

Bertelli's Springfield Brownies Also Booked For Future Game at Upton Ball Park

Any doubt that the local baseball season is fully underway can be easily rubbed out by reviewing the forthcoming schedule for Manager Joe Hoffman's Kingston Recreations. Tonight at municipal stadium Josh Gibson and his famous Homestead Grays of the Negro National League will play a return visit to do battle with the Recs in a game which is slated for 9 o'clock.

Future Bookings
Following the appearance of the crack Homesteaders, the equally powerful New York Cubans, paced by the clever first baseman, Dave Thomas, will come into the Upton ball park Saturday night. Another big attraction is slated for next Wednesday night, June 12, when the one and only House of David ball club will be here. Saturday, June 15, Angelo Bertelli's Springfield Brownies will engage the Recreations at the city stadium. Bertelli, who gained plenty of recognition at Notre Dame, needs no introduction to local fans. Advance publicity reveals that Bertelli is as much at home with a horsehide as he is with the pigskin.

With these stellar bookings in the offing, local baseball patrons are assured of plenty of top-notch ball during the coming weeks. The 2,138 fans who passed through the turnstiles last Thursday, opening night, to view the Rec-

Hogan's 51 Score Captures Goodall Round Robin Meet

Hershey Pro Fires 69, Three Under Par, in Final Match to Whip Byron Nelson

By BILL BONT
New York, June 5 (AP)—By rights this should be a piece about Ben Hogan. After all, golf's lightweight did win the Goodall round-robin-win it with a record point score of 51, 20 more than any previous winner could compile. But there is little that is new that can be written about Hogan, so, for the sake of variety, this could be a piece about . . .

Byron Nelson, up to the last round at the Winged Foot G. C. yesterday, he looked about ready to nose out Hogan on a medal-play basis, if not in the Goodall match play scoring. But then little Ben fired his best round of the tournament, a three-under-par 69, in his final match to whip Nelson 3 up and tie him for the medal at 502, two under par for the 126 holes.

McSpaden Snaps Record
Or Jug McSpaden, 35, broke all competitive records for Winged Foot's new course in the fourth round with a 65, seven under par. Only Jug made the mistake of shooting that 65 at a time when Nelson, matched with him, was posting a 68. As a result McSpaden's net gain for the round was no greater than Hogan's, who at the same time was getting his worst score, a 75, out of his system.

Or Dutch Harrison. The lanky Arkansan was the only one of 14 rivals who managed to beat Hogan over the 18-hole match play route, by 2 up. Unfortunately for the rest of the field, however, Hogan in that same round also was playing the British open champion, Dick Burton, whom he tagged for an 8 up victory and a net for the round of six points.

Or the Winged Foot course. This was where Bobby Jones beat Al Espinosa for the U. S. open title in 1929. Soggy with rain and stretched to its full 6,339 yards, the course held all but six of the 15 all-stars to scores of par or higher. Bob Hamilton, 1944 P. G. A. champ, and Burton, the pleasant if plodding invader, were 44 and 64 shots over par, respectively, at the end of the tourney. Still Hogan and Nelson proved it could be whipped, each with three rounds better than par, two even, and two over.

What this boils down to then, after all, is another piece about Ben Hogan, who was feted by his Hershey (Pa.) club members last night; tops the money-winners for the year at $22,069.50, and is looking to next week's U. S. open championship at Cleveland secure in the knowledge that for the first time in his career he is hitting the ball properly as he comes up to the biggest test of them all.

BOWLING
FREEMAN SUMMER LEAGUE
Tom LaPol's scorching drives which pulverized the Y. M. C. A. ed damage on the Central Recs Tuesday night when he blazed the way with a tremendous 327 single game in his final set. LaPol's 237, sandwiched in with other scores of 187 and 155 gave him a neat 579 three-time which paced Team 4 to a clean sweep over Team 3. Jack Hartman was high for the losers with a 505 triple. Walt Scharp's 189 single was high in that department.

In the other match Team 2, sparked by Roland Post's steady keeling of 193, 178 and 173 for a 544 triple, captured two games from Team 1. Charlie Derringer posted a 198 solo for Team 2. Charlie Diano's 586 three-time on games of 173, 203 and 208 was high for Team 1. Pearson followed with a 500 on the head.

Hundreds of new companies are registering to go into business in South Africa, Pretoria reports. Capitalization of new firms started last year is thought to exceed $200,000,000 and the end of the war stimulated registration. Nine companies last year were capitalized at $4,000,000 or more.

SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Bobby Feller's amazing record of 118 strikeouts in 107 innings so far outdistances the field that his sole competition appears to be the dusty record books in the Hall of Fame.

With Hal Newhouser, the 1944-45 king, running a distant second with 75 victims and no National League hurler up to the 50 mark, rapid Robert has only Rube Waddell's modern Big League record of 343 at which to aim. Feller might make it, too, for he's pitched but 12 games, approximately 30 per cent of his normal schedule of 40 starts. Cleveland has won but 19 games and the Van Meter, Iowa speed-boy has captured eight, working 11 complete contests.

Likes Senators
Washington is in a particularly fine vantage point to sign any Feller testimonials for the Senators have been the chief contributors to his soaring strikeout total. When he faced them for the first time this season, May 17, he whiffed 14 and last night he repeated the trick with 14 additional third strike victims in coasting to a 10-2 decision.

Boston and New York maintained the status quo in the penultimate "race" as the Red Sox trimmed the St. Louis Browns, 9-4, and the Yankees edged out Chicago, 2-1, leaving Joe Cronin's gang seven full games out front.

Bobby Doerr slugged his fifth homer and added two doubles and a single to assure success. A light duel between Joe Haynes and Spud Chandler ended on a key when Haynes walked and Yankee Nick Etten with the bases loaded in the eighth, breaking a 1-1 tie. Homers by Don Koloway and Tommy Henrich were the only previous runs.

Detroit presented a patched-up lineup that was good enough to hand the Philadelphia Athletics another trimming, 2-0, on Dizzy Trout's seven-hit chucking.

Cards Clip Bravos
St. Louis clipped a half game off Brooklyn's National League lead but still trailed by 3½ lengths after trimming Boston, 5-1, in a night game. Harry Brecheen tossed a neat four-hitter to bolster the sagging Red Birds.

Brooklyn almost dropped two in Pittsburgh but they rallied to score three runs in the ninth inning of the second tilt and pull out with a 7-6 victory. 11th Erit Ostermuller, southpawed Pirates to a 4-3 victory in the opener when Hugh Casey threw a bunted ball wildly in the ninth inning.

Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's rookie mound ace, turned in a gaudy three-hit job on the Phillies, 5-0, facing only 27 men. It was a third straight triumph for the six-foot five-inch right-hander who lost his first two outings. The New York Giants touched hooks Wyse and Russ Meers for 15 hits but lost a ball game to Chicago, 3-2.

Clinton to Drill Thursday Evening At Pan Am Field

Manager Jim Freleigh Requests All Players to Attend, Club Away Sunday

Manager Jim Freleigh of the Gov. Clinton Market baseball team has called for a special practice Thursday night at the Pan Am Field starting at 6:15 o'clock. "I'd like to see every player out at Thursday's drill," Manager Freleigh said this morning "so that we can get in a good workout prior to next Sunday's Mid-Hudson League game against the Millbrook Giants at Millbrook."

As yet the Clintons haven't seen any action in the newly-organized circuit due to rain and wet grounds. The Clintons will try to open their home schedule at municipal stadium Sunday afternoon, June 16, when the Poughkeepsie Barthelemy nine appears here.

Joe Amato Tames Subways, 8 to 0

Fuller Moundsman Allows Only Two Safeties

Joe Amato won his third straight game of the year for Fullers when he allowed the Subway Gulls only two scratch hits as his teammates cracked out an 8 to 0 decision this week. Amato displayed plenty of "stuff" in every pitch and he received airtight defense.

S. Rowland and J. Rowland completed a fast double-killing from third to second on a scorching line drive off the bat of the Gulls' first baseman while Fatum came up with several outstanding catches. Fatum also cracked out a mighty triple while E. Bock collected a double.

The only bingles off Amato were accumulated by Plattner and Lowe. Myers did the catching for Amato while Lowe and Grube worked for the losers.

Better Golf

3. Today's picture illustrates well how the hands pass under the upper body in the backswing. As the player continues this swing till the back of his shoulders "faces" the green, he will continue to take that club back and up in the same plane. When he has reached the top position his hands will be perpendicularly over his right shoulder. Gathering your backswing in this fashion leaves you correctly poised at the top of the backswing for that momentary pause before you start slowly down from the top. As you start down your hip pivot, followed by your shoulder pivot, the downswing of the arms and finally the wrist throw—all these forces blend successfully into the stroke. The result is that your clubhead is traveling at maximum speed at impact with the ball. And it's all done rhythmically. You must have rhythm to get the right timing and to prevent one part of the body being out of correct relationship with the other parts during the swing. When you press or swing too hard you destroy this balance of the forces contributing to the stroke.

City Employees Ask Equal Pay Boosts

In July, 1945 and has granted another $400 annual raise since the first of this year in order to help its employees meet the higher living costs now prevalent.

Eighteen and a half cents per hour has been nationally accepted by both management and labor as a fair adjustment over 1945 salaries, to meet the higher costs and that increase has been put into effect in many industries.

We feel sure that your honorable body will extend to the employees under your jurisdiction (about 15 in number) the same treatment accorded by other city boards to their employees to meet higher living costs.

The following, if granted by you, will give to your employees exactly the same as has been granted by the Board of Public Works of Kingston to all of its employees:

The current salary of each employee to be increased by the amount of one regular annual increment plus 10 per cent of the maximum salary for each employee position.

The present maximum salary for each employee's position to be increased by 10 per cent.

The above increases, both as to current salary and maximum annual salary for the Board of Public Works, have been approved by the Civil Service Commission and are now being paid.

Immediately upon your granting and the Civil Service Commission approving the above increases, they will become the new legal salary schedule for your employees and funds to pay these increases can be raised by budget notes.

In the interest of fairness and equal treatment to your employees, we respectfully request your honorable body to grant such increases to your employees effective as of July 1, 1946.

The work week of all manufacturing averages 41 hours, almost 10 per cent below 1945.

Names 11-Member June Dairy Month Committee
Ithaca, N. Y., June 5—Roy H. Park of Ithaca, New York state chairman of the tenth annual June Dairy Month, named an 11-member committee today to assist him in promoting the month's theme that dairy products are "first in foods."

Governor Thomas E. Dewey recently proclaimed June as Dairy Month in New York state and said "The fight against malnutrition, both at home and abroad, can never be won unless there is general recognition of the essentiality of dairy products to the human diet."

The mayors of several cities also have proclaimed June as Dairy Month, recognizing the dairy industry's importance in this state, where it accounts for approximately one-half of the total farm income.

50 to 1 Choice Wins Epsom Derby
Gulf Stream, Favorite, Comes in Second

London, June 5 (AP)—J. Ferguson's Airborne won the 163rd running of the Derby at Epsom Downs today at odds of 50 to 1.

The favorite Lord Derby's Gulf Stream was second. Tom Lilley's Rairotherapy was third.

Airborne was a length in front of Gulf Stream at the finish.

A huge throng, including the royal family, who made their first trip to the Derby by rail, was on hand for the return of the ancient classic to Epsom Downs for the first time since the war.

Airborne was ridden by T. Lowrey, scoring his first Derby victory.

The time for the mile and 885 yards on the rain-soaked track was 2 minutes, 44 3/5 seconds, far off the Derby record.

Hotel Blaze Does Not Rate as City's Biggest Tragedy

Chicago, June 5 (AP)—Today's disastrous fire in the La Salle Hotel, termed by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, as the worst hotel fire in the city's history, was not the largest conflagration in Chicago in loss of life. An estimated 57 perished and 200 were injured in today's blaze.

The most spectacular fire in Chicago was the great fire in October, 1871, in which 200 lives were lost and property valued at $200,000,000 damaged. The fire consumed 18,000 buildings and burned over 2,100 acres.

Other big fires in Chicago: July 10, 1850—17 persons were killed in view of 30,000 Columbian exposition visitors in a fire which destroyed the cold storage building on the fair grounds.

December 30, 1903—The Iroquois Theatre fire in which 575 lives were lost.

December 22, 1910—Twenty-four men, including Fire Chief James Horan, met death in blaze that destroyed Morris & Co., parking plant.

March 15, 1922—Losses of $8,000,000 from fire which swept Burlington railroad's skyscraper office building at Jackson Blvd. and Clinton street.

April 13, 1931—Eleven men lost their lives when they were trapped by fire and poisonous gases in an intersecting sewer tunnel 35 feet underground at 22nd and Laflin streets.

May 19, 1934—Chicago stockyards, property damage $10,000,000.

January 16, 1945—General Clark Hotel, 14 perished.

Maine Officials Visit Water Filter Plant at Zena

Water works officials of Portland, Maine, were in Kingston on Monday and made an inspection of the city's water department's filtration plant at Zena.

The Portland water system, though on a larger scale is similar to that of Kingston, with the exception that Portland has no filtration system.

The raw water in Portland is almost identical with that of Kingston, and the Portland water department contemplate building a filtration plant which would be a modification of the one at Zena.

Portland supplies water to 150,000 people.

In the inspection party Monday were the president of the Portland Water District, their attorney, general manager, chief engineer and chemist.

The inspection was arranged and conducted at Zena by James M. Caird, chemist and bacteriologist of Troy, who is retained as consultant by Portland and Kingston water departments.

Kaplan Resigns His Union Fern Position

Arthur J. Kaplan, manager of the Union Fern Furniture Company store on Wall street, has announced his resignation effective Saturday, June 8.

Mr. Kaplan said he is considering several offers to enter business in Albany where he was located for the past several years.

Mr. Kaplan opened the local Union Fern store in November, after having worked for that company in Albany.

Switchboard Operator Dies at Her Post

Chicago, June 5 (AP)—A switchboard operator who refused to be dragged from her post last night, died in the La Salle Hotel fire because she insisted on remaining behind to notify guests.

W. H. Bradford, assistant night manager, told police he tried to drag Mrs. Julia Barry, 44, from her post on the second floor but that she refused to leave. Bradford suffered facial burns.

Mrs. Barry, a widow, had been employed by the hotel 11 years.

At Least 57 Die In Chicago Fire

600 policemen were called to the scene and aided in carrying the dead, assisting the injured and shepherding the lightly-clad and homeless persons who had escaped. More than 50 Red Cross people assisted.

First aid facilities were established in the city hall and all available ambulances, from public and private agencies, carried victims to five hospitals. Many of those who escaped were frantically searching for friends and relatives.

The hotel's register was destroyed in the fire and an emergency list of those who had been injured was compiled by police, to aid in answering the pitiful pleas of those seeking loved ones.

Other loop hotels quickly volunteered shelter for those driven from their rooms. Cots were set up in ball rooms, and other guests in the nearby hotels shared their rooms with the displaced.

One fireman was killed and 20 to 30 were injured in battling the fire and smoke.

Many of the fleeing guests tried to carry personal possessions with them, but in many cases the loads grew too heavy and the corridors were lined with abandoned belongings, and a pile was assembled in the streets.

There were many stories of individual heroism. Taxicab drivers waiting at the hotel for fares went to the upper floors to assist.

Walter Boris, an employee of the Chicago Elevated Lines, was credited with carrying 12 persons from the third floor.

Boris said that he came on one couple overcome in their bed, carried them to the bathtub, covered them with wet towels and helped help. Police then evacuated them on stretchers.

All streets were blockaded one or two blocks away from the hotel, situated at Madison and La Salle streets, in Chicago's financial district, to keep back the thousands of spectators who gathered. This morning, the blockades remained in place and additional thousands, working in buildings in the roped off area, had to secure special permission to pass.

The hotel was built in 1903 and City Building Commissioner Paul Gerhardt today said it had never been cited for any violation of the building code. The Fire Prevention Bureau said a warning had been addressed to the hotel on May 10, listing 10 points which needed correction, and giving the hotel 14 days to comply.

Chief John L. Fenn, of the Fire Prevention Bureau, said warnings had been issued on various instances since 1927, resulting in corrections by the hotel.

Deputy Sheriff Owen Man With a Mission

Deputy Sheriff Bowman H. Owen, caretaker at Balsam Lake, is a better police officer today, because he was a man with a mission.

The mission consisted of eight weekly round-trips between Balsam Lake, in the northwestern-most tip of Ulster county, and the county court house for the Basic In-Service Training School conducted by the State Sheriff's Association in cooperation with the F.B.I.

The distance for the round trip is 150 miles giving Deputy Sheriff Owen a total mileage of 1,200 for the eight classes. In making the trip, he had to touch parts of Sullivan and Delaware county. Deputy Owen is a caretaker at the Balsam Lake estate.

An interlocutory judgment of divorce was granted in favor of Alice Manfro, plaintiff, against James Manfro, defendant, April 5, 1946, when action was tried before Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick. The parties were married in Glasco, December 13, 1924.

Hamburger Sales Continue as Usual

Springfield, Mo., June 5 (AP)—Despite the fact that a bakers' strike interfered with his selling hamburgers, Roy H. Scrivner is serving his customers buns air-freighted from California at a cost of $119.32.

Scrivner opened his new drive-in restaurant May 27, and just as he got going good on hamburgers, bakers in southwestern Missouri went on strike. For days he scoured the countryside within a 300-mile radius for bread.

"But I got tired of it all," confessed Scrivner, "so I called a friend in Los Angeles for help."

Today the restaurant owner and a pilot friend engaged a small plane to ferry home 200 loaves of bread and 80 dozen buns, shipped air freight to Kansas City, by the California acquaintance.

The expensive hamburgers will cost his customers no more than usual, Scrivner declared.

"I hope I'll break even. If I don't I'll just charge it off on the books to good will or something like that."

Frederick Burhans Sells Spring Lake Resort Property

Spring Lake, popular Ulster county swimming resort and roller rink for more than 20 years, has been sold by Fred "Pop" Burhans to Robert and Clara Pardee of Hastings-on-Hudson.

The transaction was completed yesterday by Robert Vincent of the Shattuck Realty Co.

The new owners will take over the resort, following arrangements to be completed today. The sale embraces the entire property located on Lucas avenue.

Mr. Burhans, who is 83 years old, said this morning that the deal had been effected in a couple of days and that he was planning to go into retirement as soon as the new owners take over.

Mr. Burhans' son-in-law, Albert D. Woolsey, will continue to operate the roller rink until September 1. He will be assisted by William Swart.

For several years Mr. Burhans conducted an ice house business in conjunction with the resort, using the Spring Lake water for ice that supplied many Kingston business houses, hotels and restaurants. The ice house burned down on September 3, 1942 and he did not rebuild it.

The purchaser is a well known business man in Hastings-on-Hudson, Mr. Vincent said in announcing the transaction. He plans many capital improvements on the bathing houses, beach and grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Pardee will build a new home on the property. His goal, Mr. Vincent said, is to make Spring Lake one of the finest summer resorts in the area.

Bread Lines Form In Many Cities

Millers Predict Relief in Two, Three Weeks, Few Escape

Chicago, June 5 (AP)—Bread lines were forming in most of the nation's stores and bakeries as the country experienced its worst wheat shortage, but the Millers National Federation predicted relief in two or three weeks.

However, Herman Steen, executive secretary of the federation, said yesterday "this is the worst week the millers will have" and added that from 80 to 90 per cent of the nation's flour mills will shut down for lack of wheat to grind into flour.

Scarcely any city escaped the pinch. However, two factors pointed to an upturn. They were the new winter wheat crop, running 25 per cent above expectations, coming in Texas and Oklahoma; and a plan by the Department of Agriculture to divert some foreign relief wheat stocks to the most acute domestic bread shortage areas.

Steen predicted the shortage would be considerably relieved by mid-to-late July as more of the new winter crop reaches the mills. He said, however, "government red tape," shipping the grain from elevators to mills, getting the right "blend" for bread flour, and delivering the flour to bakers, all would require a time lag of two or more weeks.

William A. Kaercher was attorney for the plaintiff, Alice Manfro; Andrew J. Cook for the defendant James Manfro. The judgment was entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office May 27, 1946.
